

One of the Important Duties of Physicians and the Well-Informed of the World is to learn as to the relative standing and reliability of the leading manufacturers of medicinal agents, as the most eminent physicians are the most careful as to the uniform quality and perfect purity of remedies prescribed by them, and it is well known to physicians and the Well-Informed generally that the California Fig Syrup Co., by reason of its correct methods and perfect equipment and the ethical character of its product has attained to the high standing in scientific and commercial circles which is accorded to successful and reliable houses only, and, therefore, that the name of the Company has become a guarantee of the excellence of its remedy.

TRUTH AND QUALITY

appeal to the Well-Informed in every walk of life and are essential to permanent success and creditable standing, therefore we wish to call the attention of all who would enjoy good health, with its blessings, to the fact that it involves the question of right living with all the term implies. With proper knowledge of what is best each hour of recreation, of enjoyment, of contemplation and of effort may be made to contribute to that end and the use of medicines dispensed with generally to great advantage, but as in many instances a simple, wholesome remedy may be invaluable if taken at the proper time, the California Fig Syrup Co. feels that it is alike important to present truthfully the subject and to supply the one perfect laxative remedy which has won the approval of physicians and the world-wide acceptance of the Well-Informed because of the excellence of the combination, known to all, and the original method of manufacture, which is known to the California Fig Syrup Co. only.

This valuable remedy has been long and favorably known under the name of—Syrup of Figs—and has attained to world-wide acceptance as the most excellent of family laxatives, and as its pure laxative principles, obtained from Senna, are well known to physicians and the Well-Informed of the world to be the best of natural laxatives, we have adopted the more elaborate name of—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna—as more fully descriptive of the remedy, but doubtless it will always be called for by the shorter name of Syrup of Figs—and to get its beneficial effects always note, when purchasing, the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—plainly printed on the front of every package, whether you simply call for—Syrup of Figs—or by the full name—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna—is the one laxative remedy manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., and the same heretofore known by the name—Syrup of Figs—which has given satisfaction to millions. The genuine is for sale by all leading druggists throughout the United States in original packages of one size only, the regular price of which is fifty cents per bottle.

Every bottle is sold under the general guarantee of the Company, filed with the Secretary of Agriculture, at Washington, D. C., that the remedy is not adulterated or misbranded within the meaning of the Food and Drugs Act, June 30th, 1906.

MAY NOT CONFER WITH THE PRESIDENT

Men Who Were to go to Roosevelt Hold a Conference and Balk at the Prospect, Alleging That They Have no Authority to Treat With Him.

New York, March 16.—Messrs. McCrea, Mellen, Huggitt and Newman the four railroad presidents for whose visit to the White House J. Pierpont Morgan arranged before his departure for Europe met yesterday, canvassed the situation and decided not to go to Washington.

It is understood that the four gentlemen involved did not feel that they had any proper mandate from the railroad corporations to represent them. They felt that they could not assume the position of a self-constituted commission to formulate or present the views of the hundreds of railroad companies owned by millions of shareholders.

They recognized that the railroad managers of the United States are not themselves in perfect accord, and that until some method could be adopted for securing a consensus of opinion, a visit to the president would be idle. At the conclusion of the conference the various presidents left for their homes.

Thomas F. Ryan, when asked his opinion about the meeting arranged by Mr. Morgan said:

"I believe that if Mr. Morgan's visit to the president is followed up as it should be, by all our great business interests, it will do much good."

"I also believe that the president's attitude toward corporations is much misunderstood by the general public. It is unfair to assume that it is his desire to hamper the business interests of the country. I am, however, convinced that he finds them upon the statute books, and I think the sooner the business interests of the country conclude to aid the president in solving the problems that confront him every day, the sooner confidence will be restored and the business of the country move on without interruption. So far as general business is concerned, the only fault to be found with it is that it is too active."

Washington, March 16.—At a late hour last night President Roosevelt had received no word from the four railroad presidents who were suggested by J. Pierpont Morgan on the eve of his departure for Europe as conferees to discuss with the president the railroad situation, and to urge Mr. Roosevelt to take some action to "allay the public anxiety."

The president will not invite Messrs. McCrea, Huggitt, Newman and Mellen to the White House, but if they ask for an appointment the president will be glad to receive them.

The embarrassed position in which the railroad magnates have been placed is due to the fact that Mr. Morgan arranged the conference with the president without consulting the officials for whom he asked the audience.

It is known that within the last few days President McCrea of the Pennsylvania communicated with the president and made it clear that while he did not want to show any discourtesy, he did not want to be placed in the attitude of rushing to the White House to make a plea for executive clemency.

Since so much publication has been given the proposed conference it is the general belief in official circles here that the railroad presidents will decide to keep the appointment which Mr. Morgan arranged for them.

Washington, March 16.—The decision of the railroad presidents not to call on President Roosevelt has not worried "Teddy." He told Morgan he was indifferent as to whether they called or not. The laugh is now on Morgan and the railroad presidents and Roosevelt will not change his policy toward the railroads and other big corporations.

Society Notes

Miss Leah Moore and Miss Clara Wottring, of Prospect, pleasantly entertained the members and guests of the Prospect Embroidery club, at the home of the former in that village Friday evening.

The occasion was given in celebration of St. Patrick's day, and the home was characteristically decorated in green, presenting a very pretty appearance. The evening was devoted to embroidery work and general social intercourse. A three course luncheon was a concluding feature.

The club's guests upon this occasion were Miss Leah Wottring, of Delaware, and Miss Cora Johnson, of Prospect.

Mrs. George Baker, of East Center street, was hostess to the members and guests of the "500" club last evening. The club members were practically all present and a delightful session resulted.

After an interesting season at "500" the hostess served an elegant three course luncheon. The guests of the club upon this occasion were

HARRIMAN LOSES PACIFIC RAILWAYS

Report That the Great Railroad Magnate Has Been Deposed is Current But it is Denied-Rumor Caused a Stir in Railroad Circles.

New York, March 16.—In the innermost sanctuaries of the great bankers, the private rooms of the trusted operators who act for them in the stock market, and the secluded consultation offices of the legal geniuses who show them how to do things that will pass the scrutiny of the courts, there were tensely whispered rumors yesterday that Harriman had lost or would lose control of the Union Pacific, the Central Pacific, the Southern Pacific, the whole Union Pacific system, together with Reading and all his other seizures of high finance; that J. P. Morgan was the instrument of the Harriman overthrow, thus becoming the railroad Napoleon; that the whole result was due to President Roosevelt.

Here is the extraordinary story from the beginning: Some weeks ago Mr. Morgan, representing the alarm of the railroad heads and their banking affiliations, sent an emissary to the White House to find out if the president were implacably hostile to the railroads of the country as such, or if he were disposed to differentiate between the good managements and the bad. Mr. Roosevelt's return message was that he was not making war on railroads as industrial institutions; that he was fighting railroads which persistently and brazenly broke the law, and that he intended to pursue the lawbreakers to the last ditch.

On this understanding, Mr. Morgan requested a personal interview. At this meeting he assured the president that the wiser presidents of the roads were sensible of the fact that they were the creatures, not the masters, of the government. He declared that they were willing to show that they were amenable to reason and would be glad to come to an understanding by which they could seek to satisfy the president and the country of their purpose to obey the law and fulfill other conditions of good citizens. President Roosevelt answered that this was not enough.

"What is the matter then," asked Mr. Morgan.

"Harriman," answered Mr. Roosevelt grimly. "He has no conception of what is lawful and what is unlawful. He has a lawless nature. He has no moral sense. He is a menace to this country. He is a disgrace to the institution railroads. He is a stigma upon those railway men and bankers who tolerate and condone and help him. Harriman doesn't know how to come within the law; he has got to go. The government proposes to follow him up and expose his dealings and practices against public morality and business decency until it will be impossible for him to stand up longer against the storm of public opinion that will overwhelm him."

Morgan asked for time in which to consult with Stillman, or the Rockefeller interests in the First National bank and other financial leaders. Out of this conferring grew a plan for the appeasing of the president, to get rid of Harriman as the dominant railway factor in the United States, taking away his vast Union Pacific system, or at least to weaken his control so largely that he would be at the mercy of other railway interests, rather than they at his.

Other consultations were held with President Roosevelt and it was promised that in lieu of relenting war on the railroads, his alternative of getting rid of Harriman would be attempted. He was informed that the bankers and railroad interests that had undertaken to wrest control of Harriman's railroads would be compelled to smother the market for Harriman securities.

On the executing of the program came the sudden break in the stock market with Harriman's Union Pacific system and Reading leading all the others in the downward plunge. Everybody was selling those stocks and Harriman's people would not begin to take them.

New York, March 16.—Mr. E. H. Harriman, when asked yesterday afternoon concerning the story that the control of the Union Pacific had changed hands, was emphatic in his statement that the story was without foundation. In that connection, Mr. Harriman said:

"I dare say that someone has sold a large amount of Union Pacific to someone else, but there are no new interests even sharing in the control. If it will be of any satisfaction to you, you may say that my associates, both railroad and financial, were never closer to me than they are at the present time." Mr. Harriman was asked about the market situation but had little to say except that he believed the worst was over.
